Riley

Person-Centred Strengths-Based Support

With a background in disability support work and social science, Riley is passionate about walking alongside participants on their journey! She genuinely values each participant's unique story and keeps them at the heart of their own recovery.

Bringing Calm, Energy, and Connection

When tricky or difficult situations pop up, Riley provides a wonderful place of calm to help participants navigate through.

Using a strengths-based approach, she collaborates with participants to identify their needs and discover the right supports to meet them. Riley combines a person-centred approach with warmth, empathy and genuine care, allowing each participant to lead the way.
